AMONG THE BALL-PLAYERS.

Glasscock's Reasons for Not Signing a Brotherhood Contract-Negotiating with Hines. Special to the Indianapolis Journat

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23 .- Jack Glasscock, the Hoosier short-stop, is in town on baseball business. He has come here to negotiate with Paul Hines for a League contract for 1890, and also to talk over the base-ball situation, which, at present, is extremely interesting, with President Young, of the League. This evening's Star says of Mr. Glasscock and his visit: "A Star reporter met the athlete, who had donned the winter costume of an ordinary citizen, in the lobby of Willard's Hotel this morning, and endeavored to get him some inkling as the prospects for the great game next year, but Glasscock was sly and used diplomatic language. To the direct question, if he was not out for the League, he said, with a smile, that he did not think it was fair to say just now whether he was or not. He would like 'thirty days' notice,' he added. Paul Hines was waiting for him, and the two players and the scribe went up the street, the former be-ing headed for the office of the League magnate. Glasscock practically admitted that he was out of sorts with the Brother-hood and based his objections on several grounds. In the first place, he said, the affair is called a 'Brotherhood League,' whereas the managers are striving everywhere to fill up the ranks with who are not Brotherhood players, from the American Association and from every possible source, while men in good standing in the organization are being shoved aside to make room. He cited the case of Con Dailey, who, he said, had to step down and out to give way for a man like Milligan. 'If I was not a good player,' said Glasscock, 'they would not have anything to do with me; but, since I am, and since I want to see fair play, and don't want to sign any sort of contract, they see fit to slander me by calling me a traitor. I don't care whether they call me that or not. All I want is a good position and an assured salary. They send me a contract to play with them for three years for a certain sum. If I sign it, I am bound hand and foot. If I save a little money the first year, and put it in the stock of the concern, the second year they have a right to freeze me out. This contract of theirs is practically a classification, and they can't get out of it. And then, too, it might be different if the salary was assured. But it is not. I'm not going to put my name down to an un-

Glasscock's main ground of objection, however, seemed to be the importation into the Brotherhood ranks of outsiders like Staley, Milligan, Tucker and Kilroy. He will probably leave town with Hines's signature secured to a contract to play ball in Indianapolis, in the National League, in

Ward Spends a Day in Indianapolis. John M. Ward was a guest of the Grand Hotel yesterday, and during the afternoon circulated among the members of the Indianapolis Leauge club who are now in the city. Early in the morning he sent for Denny, Boyle, and Seery and those players met him at the hotel. On entering the private room of the Brotherhood leader, Ward asked his guests if it was true that they had signed contracts to play in the city next season, and was told that it was, so far as Denny and Boyle were concerned. "Then," said Ward, "my business here is done," and the players arose to go. Ward, however, wanted a few minutes' additional conversation with them and followed them down-stairs, where a very animated discussion occurred, Denny doing most of the talking and Ward most of the listening. The big third-baseman was very emphatic in what he had to say. and before the convention closed he waxed very wrothy, and scored Ward in a way that the Brotherhood man did not. enjoy. Denny couldn't understand why it was that Mr. Ward, in his scheme to work full justice to all the players, should put him in Brooklyu at $3,000, and himself in the same club at $4,500, while Glasscock was as-signed to New York at $3,000. The conversation became more and more animated as it progressed, and Denny used some pretty vigorous language before he finally turned on his heel and left. Afterward Ward and Seery went away together in a carriage, and were gone an hour or more, but at the conclusion of the conference the little left-fielder denied that he had signed a Brotherhood contract. Ward left for Chicago at 11 o'clock, without having ac-complished a great deal by his trip to In-

Have Signed Brotherhood Contracts. CHICAGO. Nov. 23.-John Ward, of the Brotherhood, arrived in the city to-night, He is very sanguine of the success of their scheme, and says the organization of all the clubs will be completed in a short time. At a meeting of the Brotherhood representatives to-night it was decided to change the date of the New York meeting to complete the organization of the Player's League from Jan. 7, 1890, to Dec. 10, 1889. The following list of men now actually under contract, is furnished by Mr. Ward:

Chicago - Baldwin, King, Dwyer, Bartson, Darling, Farrell, Pfeffer, Williamson, Latham, Ryan, Duffy, Tener, Bastain. Cleveland-Snyder, Stricker, Sutcliffe. Buffalo-Ferson, Wise, J. Irwin, Mack, Carney, Keefe, Beecher.

Pittsburg — Beckley, Kuehne, Galvin, Miller,
Hanlon, Morris, Field.
Philadelphia—Milligan, Cross, Hallman. Foreman. Buffinton, Farrar, Meyers, Mulvey, Shindle, Griffin, Delehanty, Fogarty, Wood, Thompson.
Brooklyn—Tucker, Bassett, Bierbauer, Ward.
Andrews, McGeachy and one other, who will not be named at present New York-Ewing, Crane, Murphy, Welch, Keefe, O'Day, Connor, Richardson, Whitney, O'Rourke, Slattery, Gore. Boston-Brouthers, Stovey, Kilroy.

Notes About Players. Sanders, pitcher in last season's Philadelphia League club, has signed with the Philadelphia Players' League team. The Cincinnati Base-ball Club has obtained McPhee's signature to a contract to play in that organization next year. Ed Andrews, who was in Painesville, O., yesterday, says: "I have signed Louis Bierbauer, the star in-fielder of the Athletic club. He will play in the Brooklyn Broth-erhood club." The first out-fielder to affix his signature contract with the Cleveland Leagu club for 1890 is George Davis, who played last season with the Albanys. He is reported to be a hard hitter and a good baserunner. He bats left-handed, and will play left field. He is twenty-two years of age.

THE BRITISH COLONIES.

Mr. Wiman Thinks Canada's Future Depends Upon Closer Relations with the United States.

KINGSTON, Ont., Nov. 23.-Erastus Wiman spoke here this evening on "Closer Trade Relations between the United States and Canada." He said, in part: "In the United States circumstances are extremely favorable to some arrangement whereby trade may be extended to all parts of the continent, north and south. The demand for free raw material in lumber, iron, copper, coal, fish, fruit and wool, and also small grains is very strong, while the necessity for enlarged markets is equally apparent. The pan-American Congress is indication for enlarged relations with neighboring nations. Why not then with Canada, already the best customer of the United States. The enormous Treasury surplus calls for a reduction in customs, and as those levied on Canadian products amount to only $5,000,000, equal to less than 10 cents per head to the population of the United States, nothing would be more popular than its removal if an extention of commerce to continental proportions and the opening up of abundant sources of supply could be thereby achieved.

"In Canada, also, the circumstances point plainly to the necessity of a change in the policy of the country. The population is declining, the debt increasing and the figures show that since confederation, twenty years ago, the deficit between exports and imports amount to $315,000,000, while the excess in the United States during the same period amounts to $800,000,000. England is exacting interest from Canada at the rate of $25,000,000 a year more than her total export of breadstuffs. Meantime the young men of Canada ask, what is the good of British connection if it prevents the country from an alliance with the United States, by which alone the vast resources of the Dominion can secure proper development. If commercial union could be achieved by concurrent legislation, a great stride forward would be taken toward a unification of the interests between the two countries. If this resulted in a politi-cal union, in time it would be welcome to the United States, and perhaps, in time to Canada. If, on the other hand, independence from Great Britain was desired it would not be seriously objected to. With British capital pouring out at its present rate it would take less than fifty years for Great Britain to control one-half the industrial establishments of the United States, and with that country paying annually at least $100,000,000 to London in the shape of interest and dividends, the United States would be far more important to Great Britain than Canada.

"Apart from this momentary interest, it is significant that the great statesmen of England recognize in the United States the representative of English civilization on the continent of North America, as shown by the remarkable speech of Mr. Gladstone at Paris, in which he predicted in America in a hundred years a population of six hundred millions. If, with the United States of Brazil following in the steps of the United States of Colombia, which followed in the wake of the United States of America, there should be created the United States of Australia, and eventually the United States of tralia, and eventually the United States of Cauada, Great Britain would not be injured, but rather glorified by thus permitting nearly 80 per cent. of her empire to assume a condition of independence, self-reliance and prosperity, so gloriously illustrated by the career of the neighboring republic. The world moves rapidly in these days, as shown by the recent revolution in South America, and if, in the northern half of the continent, at the general elections to be held within eightgeneral elections to be held within eight-een months, a verdict is rendered in favor of a free and unrestrained relation by Canada with the United States, a great step forward will be made toward a unification of interests between the two great nations that now possess the continent in common, and which, by harmony of action, would develop for the good of mankind its abundant riches."

DRAWING TO A CLOSE.

Only a Few More Witnesses in the Cronin Case to Be Examined—the Defense Satisfied.

CHICAGO, Nov. 23 .- No further evidence was heard in the Cronin case to-day. At the opening of the court Mr. Forrest announced that his expected witness, Mr. Lynch, had had a relapse, and he had decided to get along without his evidence. As there were no further witnesses present the court adjourned until Monday morning, with the understanding that the defense would examine one or two minor witnesses and would then close its case. State's Attorney Longenecker sat in his office this morning smiling and satisfied with the results of his and his co-laborers' efforts in presenting the evidence against the five suspects. "I think we have established a case that has not been broken down in a single instance," he said to a re-porter. "Those Clan-na-Gael alibis did not help the defendants, in my opinion, one whit, and on the rebuttal the State will put some witnesses on the stand that will to a great extent compromise their testi-

Then the State will introduce its rebuttal, which, Judge Longenecker said this morning, would only occupy the re-mainder of the Morday session. The sur-rebuttal of the defense is not very great, and will be all in at the end of the morning session of Tuesday. On that afternoon or Wednesday morning the arguments will Farmers' Mutual Benefit Association. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

VINCENNES, Ind., Nov. 23.-The annual convention of the General or National Assembly of the Farmers' Mutual Benefit Association, which was convened all this week at Mount Vernon, adjourned last night. Between 700 and 800 delegates, representing almost every State in the Union, were present. H. H. Moore, of Illinois, presided over the convention, and J. P. Steele, of Mount Vernon, acted as secretary. The session was strictly secret. A large amount of business of interest to the Farmers' As-sociation was transacted. The last session of the A. M. B. A. General Assembly was held at Murphysboro, Ill., in October, 1888. The next General Assembly will be held at Springfield, Ill., in October, 1890. The following officers were elected for the General Assembly: President, H. H. Moore, of Illinois; vice-president, J. P. Moore, of Kansas; secretary, John P. Steele, of Illinois; treasurer, T. W. Haines, of Kentucky. The next State Assembly of Indiana will be held at Princeton on the second Tuesday in February, 1890.

Mrs. Southworth Will Plead Insanity. New York, Nov. 23.—Mrs. Hannah B. Southworth, who murdered Stephen L. Pettus yesterday, was visited in her cell to-day by her attorney. When questioned as to the line of defense, if any, which had been determined upon, he replied that the defense undoubtedly would be insanity. There was no doubt, the counsel said, that Mrs. Southworth was insane. His client was incoherent in her statements, the result of the great shock her nervous system had sustained, but in a day or two she would be more rational. As matters stand. Mrs. Southworth's statement of her many wrongs is quite clear enough to enable counsel to grapple with the case. Mr. W. B. Martin, the woman's brother, was among her early callers. It was with this brother that Mrs. Southworth lived. The scene between brother and sister is described as of a most affecting character. She seemed to forget her position, as almost alliher inquiries were made concerning her mother. She will be examined by the coroner next Tuesday.

The membership of the new organization includes nearly all the manufacturers of drilling tools, etc. The idea is to advance prices slightly, and make all prices and discounts uniform. The new lists and prices wilt go into effect Dec. 1. It is believed that, as a result of this organization, the price of drilling will

TWO LEGISLATURES IN MONTANA.

Republicans Organize in One Place and the Democrats Another-Action of Senators.

HELENA, Mont., Nov. 23 .- The lower house of the Legislature organized this afternoon in two branches-the Republicans meeting in a hall on Main street and the Democrats in the court-house. The Republicans had thirty members, two more than a quorum. The body was called to order by the State Auditor, and sworn in by Chief-justice Blake. The organization was perfected by the election of A. C. Witter, of Beaver Head county, as Speaker, and Benjamin Webster, of Lewis and Clarke county, Chief Clerk. A full list of subordinate officers was also elected, and a recess taken until 3 o'clock.

The Democratic members of the House met at the court-house and effected an organization at 1 o'clock. Blakely, of Gallatin, was elected Speaker. The members were sworn in by a notary public. The doors were closely guarded. No one was admitted except those holding certificates of election from county clerks. This branch also took a recess.

The Senate met at the court-house, but the Democratic members absented themselves and there was no quorum. Lieutenant-governor Rickards called the Senate to order. On roll-call eight Republicans were present and were sworn in by Judge Noted Burglar Protected by Governor Hill. Monday morning.

In a caucus of Republican Senators and Representatives, this evening, the action of the Republican members in organizing separately from the Democratic members was explained. It was stated that the Republican action was based upon the procla-mation of Governor Toole, that none would be permitted to participate in the House organization, or recognized as having rights as members, except those holding certifi-cates of election from county clerks. It was stated that the new Constitution, in force since Oct. 1, expressly provides that the returns for all State officials, including members of the Legislature, shall be canvassed by the same board created by the enabling act to canvass returns of the vote on the Constitution. The chairman of the caucus added that the Republicans stand unanimously on the proposition that such only as were found and declared to be members by the State canvassers rima facie entitled and that all power to determine the further rights of any member of either house resides wholly in the separate houses-at no time or in any degree in the Governor. Without notice from the Governor that he had secured rooms for the members of the respective houses, he, by proclamation, or-dered the members to meet in certain designated places that until the last moment be-fore the hour appointed were locked and guarded against the admission of all persons, with no prospect or promise but that such places would continue to be under the Governor's personal control. Rather than submit to such inquisitorial supervision and restrictions the Republicans, with the officer designated by law to call the house to order, proceeded to organize elsewhere. As the Senate contains an equal number of Democrats and Republicans and there could be no contest of right of the Lieutenant-governor to preside over the organization

Business Embarrassments. NEW YORK, Nov. 23.-Adolphus H. Corwin, doing buisness at No. 1231 Broadway as grocer, made an assignment to-day with-out preference. The schedules filed to-day show liabilities of $41,000; nominal assets, $36,000; actual assets, $20,000. Marcus Brown, shirt manufacturer at No.

The K. of L. Conspiracy Case. SCOTTDALE, Pa., Nov. 23.—The Callaghan conspiracy case is the principal topic of discussion here to-day. Mr. Callaghan was seen last evening, and when asked in regard to the unpublished letters from him to Mr. Powderly, he stated that if there were any such letters in existence they were evidently forgeries. "I wrote to Powderly," he said, "in regard to the boy-cott being waged against me by Wise and Byrne, but he ignored my letter entirely. The Reading railway story is all bosh. There is not a word of truth in the statement. I returned the pass sent by the Reading company when I was a member of the Legislature and have had no dealings with the company since. The statement that I am unknown is ridiculous. I am well known to the people of this and sur-rounding counties, and I have worked hard to make my way in life, and do not feel like being bulldozed by a lot of scoundrels." Peter Wise was arrested by Constable Gay yesterday evening and gave bail for his appearance at the hearing. Mr. Wise is not disposed to say much about the matter, but says he was in no way implicated in a conspiracy against Mr. Callaghan.

Corneillier, who investigated the whiskey smuggling at Quebec for the government, states that, so far as can be learned, there has been smuggled into Canada, by way of St. Pierre de Miquelon, this year 3,000 barrels of American whisky, and, as each gallon should have paid $2 duty, the government has lost $300,000 in revenue from that sources in the indictments for pension Last night he was captured in while engaged in the innocent and pastime of taking care of a frien This morning he was arraigned United States Commissioner Howard States Commissioner Howard States Marsh to be taken to Springfield.

The only remedy for the evil, Mr. Corneillier says, is to fit out cruisers to cope with the smugglers, and a recommendation will be made to that effect. A large quantity of contraband whisky is said to have been traced to this city, where it was delivered in small quantities to grocers and salooukeepers.

Doings of a Cincinnati Embezzler. CINCINNATI, Nov. 23,-A morning paper publishes the story that Richard D. Kyle, vice-president of the Anderson Harris Car-riage Company, of Elmwood, has embezzled $20,000 of the company's funds. Members of the company say to-night that their loss will be less than $1,000. They state that Kyle's method was to steal money from the firm and invest it in the company's stock. ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 23 .- Governor Hill to-day decided to revoke the warrant heretofore issued for the arrest of James Hope, the noted bank burglar, on a re-quisition from the Governor of Delaware for Hope's removal to that State to serves out an unexpired sentence. It appears that Hope was compulsorily brought into this State from California on a requisition issued from this State and that upon his release from prison here he was immediately arrested upon a requisition from Delaware. Governor Hill has filed an elaborate decision, holding that Hope was a reasonable time to California after his entitled to release here, and hence that his arrest was premature. The point of law is an interesting one, in regard to which there have heretofore been many conflicting decisions. Hope is now in custody in the city of New York, and, under Governor Hill's decision, he must be discharged and given an opportunity to return to California, if he so de-

DEATH IN A COPPER MINE

The Famous Anaconda, of Montana, Catches Fire, and Nine Men Lose Their Lives.

· BUTTE, Mont., Nov. 28 .- Fire broke out in the cross-cut on the for-foot level of the St. Lawrence mine. The draft is blowing it into the Anaconda workings. A great volume of smoke is issuing from the Anaconda shaft. Patrick Murphy, Henry Page, Jerry Sullivan and Tim Keliher are known to be suffocated in the Anaconda. A man could not live two minutes in any part of the mine, and the worst results are feared.

A later dispatch says: The flames were discovered by Neal McCall, a miner working on the 500-foot level of the St. Lawrence mine, in a cross-cut, and after an unsuccessful attempt to suppress the apparently small fire with his coat he got help, and the men tried to drown out the flames. They were soon driven out of the mine by heat and smoke, and as the fire occurred at 5 o'clock in the morning between change of shifts, only a few were down, all of whom got out safely. There was a quantity of powder in the lower levels and to save the mines from disaster by its explosion several men volunteered to remove it. A current of air from the St. Lawrence to the Anaconda sucked the workings of the former clear of smoke while carrying the fire to the Anaconda. The Anaconda consists almost entirely of timbers above the upper lever and result of burning these timbers will be a cave-in of disastrous proof a large amount of carbonic acid gas made it very dangerous, the men willingly volunteered to take the risk. Two trips were made successfully, but the third was fatal in two cases. Keler, a brakeman, was overcome on the cage com-ing up and fell back into the shaft. John Lyons was also overcome and fell on the cage, his head striking the timbers when near the top and fracturing the skull. Pat Murphy and Henry Page were overpowered at the 800-feot level. Other men went down to save them, but had to leave them, having a narrow escape themselves from suffocation.

The latest report is that there are nine men belonging to the mine unaccounted for and they are undoubtedly dead by this time. Incendarism or carelessness are the two causes assigned for the fire. The Anaconda mines constitute the greatest system of copper mines in the world, and the capital is estimated at $20,000,000.

Cider Seized in a Prohibition State. MASON CITY, Ia., Nov. 23,-Sheriff Kirk, with his deputies, constables and marshals, reinforced by a delegation of citizens, made a raid on the cider venders here last night, and the result has produced a sensation. One thousand one hundred and eighty-four gallons were secured, and this is now in the custody of the sheriff. An examination was made to-day by expert chemists, and they find that it contains upward of 5 per cent. of alcohol. Extensive litigation will doubtless follow, as a large part of the confiscated goods belongs to one party, who will fight the case for all there is in it.
